ROTHSCHILD INDICTMENTS

EXPECTED SHORTLY—GRAND JURY COMPLAINS OF LEAK.

Jerome Replies That the Facts Are Known to More Persons Than the Jurors—Collins Tells How Larry Summerfield Took His Pull With Him to Sing Sing.

Abe Gruber will be called before the Grand Jury to-day to give additional testimony in relation to certain confessions made by David Rothschild at Sing Sing and how they reached him. It is understood that before the end of the week the Grand Jury will have so far completed certain phases of the investigation as to return indictments.

When the Grand Jury reported to Judge Foster in General Sessions yesterday the foreman, Arnold Kohn, president of the State Bank, said:

"If your Honor please, there is a matter which I wish to present to the Court in behalf of the Grand Jury. I wish to protest against the publicity with which our proceedings are handled in the public press. The Grand Jury feel a grave responsibility and have been sworn to secrecy in relation to our proceedings, and there is considerable dissatisfaction in reading in the morning papers almost literal accounts of our proceedings. The Grand Jury desire to stamp their disapproval upon the publicity and also the sources by which this information is conveyed to the public press. There is no intention of fixing the responsibility for the matter by us, but simply a desire to absolve ourselves from any charge or imputation that the information may have been obtained from one of our own body."

Judge Foster said that it was well understood that the members of the Grand Jury did not disclose any of the facts that came before them. Then he added:

"I have observed that you complain of and have taken some little pains to ascertain whence came this publicity, and I am perfectly satisfied from the investigation that I have made that the publicity not only does not come from the Grand Jury, but that there is, strange as it may seem, no publicity given to the proceedings had before you, but the facts published are gained from entirely independent sources, and they happen to be precisely what has been testified to before you. I can only regret the publicity. I think myself it could be better if there were no publicity until your proceeding shall ripen into an indictment or a dismissal, but, of course, the law and the Court are absolutely powerless to restrain the stream of the efforts of the gentlemen of the press to get what they believe will interest the public and I only wish to assure you that no suspicion is attached to any member of the Grand Jury."

After hearing what Foreman Kohn had said, District Attorney Jerome had a talk with Judge Foster, telling him that whatever information he had given to the newspapers was known to other persons independent of the Grand Jury, and that none of the testimony before the Grand Jury had been disclosed.

Rothschild had another interview with Assistant District Attorney Kresel yesterday. When he was brought over from the Tombs he met Mrs. Rothschild, who was walking with a cane. In coming to the building she had stumbled and hurt her knee.

In Albany yesterday Cornelius V. Collins, Superintendent of State Prisons, who was here before the Grand Jury on this case, said:

"The papers claimed by David Rothschild and taken from Martin Conlon's cell had been smuggled in some manner in violation of the prison rules from Rothschild to Conlon. The prison department had a perfect right to take these papers away from either Conlon or Rothschild and make such disposal of them as it saw fit. They could even have been destroyed."

"When Rothschild was first sent to Sing Sing all sorts of pressure was brought to bear on me to permit Mrs. Rothschild to visit him at the prison as often as possible, but I told her that I did not want her to go there any oftener than any other visitor would be permitted to go. On one of her visits she was detected trying to smuggle a five dollar bill to Rothschild, and he in turn was trying to give her a letter without the knowledge of the attendant. In the letter Rothschild advised Mrs. Rothschild to see the prison physician and get him to send him (Rothschild) to the hospital."

"Since that time we have kept him under strict surveillance and have permitted him to see no one unless the visitor was accompanied by an attendant from the prison, and then conversation was permitted only when the prisoner was separated from the visitor by a screen. Efforts have been made to have that order revoked, but to no avail, and when a representative from the District Attorney's office visited the prison to see Rothschild the order was followed out as usual, but instead of assigning an officer to attend the visitor, Warden Johnson went himself."

"Rothschild was told that his counsel could visit him at the prison, but that under no circumstances would we permit an ex-convict who represented himself as counsel for Rothschild to enter the prison, since there is a prison rule that ex-convicts are not allowed to visit the prison. Rothschild a short time ago was assigned to the hospital by the prison physician, and the rumor reached me that Mrs. Rothschild had paid this lawyer $250, the lawyer agreeing to see to it that Rothschild be sent to the hospital. As a result of this examination I ordered Rothschild, Larry Summerfield and several others who were posing as patients back to work in the shops."

"Rothschild told me that the ex-convict lawyer had promised that if Rothschild would give him $1,000 he would fix it with Warden Johnson and the Superintendent of Prisons so that Rothschild could sleep in the warden's house and eat at the warden's table. Rothschild told me that the ex-convict was practicing law in New York city and that this offer was made while Rothschild was in the Tombs and that the $250 was paid to the lawyer by Mrs. Rothschild while Rothschild was still in the Tombs."

On this statement, which gave the name of the alleged ex-convict practicing lawyer, Mr. Jerome refused to comment.

GOT HIS KISS AND HIS SHIP.

M'INTYRE OF BUFFALO ALMOST MISSED THE OCEANIC.

Crowd Cried "Break Away!" When the Gangplank Began to Go Up, and His Blushing Sweetheart Woke Him Up and Got Him Aboard Safely.

McIntyre of Buffalo and his sweetheart had a long, lingering kiss, almost the length of the front door good-bye of two school-girls, on the pier of the White Star liner Oceanic, which sailed yesterday for Queens-town and Liverpool. While they were lingering and longing the cabin gangplank was hoisted. The crowd cried "Break away!" but Mac did not seem to hear or care. His sweetheart woke him up and called his attention to the gangplank. He gave her another lingering one, positively the last, and ran up the gangplank.

The up in the air had been unshipped and the chain was too wide for Mac to leap. Then the young woman came to his rescue by concentrating her radiant on the pier superintendent. He could not resist, and the longshoremen ran the gangplank out a bit just as the liner was moving from her slip. The young man jumped and was caught by two sailors in the gangway. He waved to the blushing young woman a kiss and did not stick and did not say a word to her until she was safely aboard. It was said that Mac and the young woman are to be married on May 1 and that he was suddenly called away by urgent business.

McIntyre is the name on the passenger list. Other passengers by the Oceanic are Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Choate, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred de Cordova, W. B. Cowles, Thomas D. De Villiers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huyler, John J. Drummond, Sir Robert D. Moncreiffe, Lady Moncreiffe, Gen. Edward C. O'Brien, American Minister to Paraguay and Uruguay, William Scully, Nathan B. Scott, Lord Strathcona, Dan Talmage, Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Stearns and Horace C. Stebbins.

Aboard the French liner La Touraine, which sails to-day for Havre, are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phelps Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Kennedy Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Guy, A. Augustus Healy, Francis H. Leggett, Count M. de Perigny, Mr. and Mrs. Jean C. Naegeli and the Baron de Fersen.

LOCOMOTIVE MORTGAGE FORECLOSED. Trust Company Gets Judgment Against Knickerbocker Steamboat Co. Supreme Court Justice Maddox in Brooklyn has given judgment for the plaintiff in the suit of the People's Trust Company, as trustee, against the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company to foreclose a mortgage on the Locum and Grand Republic for $150,000. Interest had not been paid on the mortgage since July 1, 1904.

J. Edward Swannstrom is named as referee to compute the amount due and to fix the compensation for counsel. Heinze Forces Shut Down in Parrot Mine. BETHE, Mon., April 12.—The Parrot mine, employing 300 men, was closed to-day on an injunction issued by Judge W. H. Hunt of the Federal Court at the instance of the Nipper Consolidated Mining Company. F. A. Heinze's corporation. Yesterday Heinze began suit for nearly $5,000,000 damages, the alleged value of ores mined from a vein which Heinze asserts apertures in the Nipper claim. To-day he applied for an injunction to prevent a continuation of the mining on the disputed ore body. It has the effect of shutting down the whole mine.

TO GO ON WITH RIVER TUNNEL. Dock Company's Injunction Dissolved by Justice Maddox. Supreme Court Justice Maddox yesterday issued an order dissolving the injunction recently obtained by the New York Dock Company restraining the tunnel contractors from continuing the work of constructing the subway under the East River. Work will be resumed to-day.

It is understood that the contractors were able to satisfy the dock company by furnishing an indemnity bond from the city. The temporary injunction was obtained on the ground that the contractors were dumping dirt and stone into the river, depriving the company of its dock facilities.

BIG RAIL IN GREEN GOODS CASE

Woman Let Go; Five Men All Locked Up in the Tombs.

The five men and a woman who were arrested at 231 East Ninety-fifth street on Tuesday by Post Office Inspector Boyle and four Central Office detectives on a charge of dealing in green goods were before Commissioner Shields in the Post Office Building yesterday. The pretty young wives of three of the prisoners waited for their husbands in the hall of the building and when they appeared embraced them affectionately.

Mrs. Charles Berger, the woman in whose house the arrests took place, together with her husband, protested innocence. Mrs. Berger was released by the Commissioner on her own recognizance. Her husband was held in $500 bail. Cheever, or Bliss, and Lewis were held in $5,000 each. Stein was held in $3,000 bail and McGregor in $2,500.

The Finest Showing Of MEN'S SHIRTS
To Be Found in New York City

FIND the man who doesn't enjoy looking over the new shirts at this season, and you see a man who can never be called a "good dresser."

It is wonderful what a difference smart shirts make in a man's appearance. And while only the cuffs and a peep at the bosom can be seen, that is plenty to stamp a man as well dressed or indifferent.

The Wanamaker stocks are in splendid fullness right now. We show lavish quantities of the best shirts we could find in Paris and Prague—the world's great sources of style in shirts. We have the best product of American manufacturers, in almost endless assortment. Then we have brought, from abroad, large quantities of handsome and exclusive shirt fabrics—some to be made up by makers selected for the work, others made up in our own famous factory.

That's why we now have such lavish displays. That's why there are so many exclusive and unusually handsome styles on show. That's why there is no place in this country where the particular man can so satisfactorily select shirts that will distinguish him from the procession.

Negligee Shirts begin at $1, for plain white, plain figured, or plaited bosom tan chambray styles. Fine assortment at $1.50. Handsome shirts, of imported materials, at $1.50 and $2.

Then the superb collection of French Shirts at $3 and $3.50, and Bohemian Shirts, at $2, $2.50, $3 and $3.50 each. Pick yours from the fine, full, fresh stocks today.

Let Us Rehabilitate Your Furniture—Now

WE have established a reputation for ourselves in upholstery work—and the maintenance of the high standard of quality and workmanship that we have set up for ourselves is our first care.

Our stock of upholstery fabrics is verily handsome, and teems with all the new designs of this Spring—many exclusive.

If you have any old furniture pieces—we use "old" qualifiedly, in the sense of not being brand-new—we offer high-class, fair-priced service to re-upholster them. Our facilities for doing this work are unsurpassed, and only the most skilled workmen are engaged. That part of the work you are not able to see—that is the part we do particularly well.

And the furniture is just like new when you get it back. We will take your furniture now—re-upholster it—hold it for you during the Summer months—and return it to you any time this Fall, after September First. Thus, on your return from the country, you have furniture as good as new. And you have been saved time, worry, and money.
